

ConSOLE XV

Program

Thursday 11 January, 2007: Arts & Sciences Colleges, Vlekho Campus, room 050

|             |                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 8.30-9.15   | Registration                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                          |
| 9.15-9.30   | Opening remarks                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                          |
| 9.30-10.30  | Arnim Von Stechow(Universität Tübingen)                                                                                                    | Decomposition in Syntax and Resultatives: BECOME and CAUSE again.                                                                 |
| 10.30-10.45 | Coffee break                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                          |
| 10.45-11.25 | Pavel Caha (CASTL, University of Tromsø)                                                                                                   | The Superset Principle and the Spell out of Non-terminals: Don't Try Morphological Analysis in the Privacy of your own Morphology |
| 11.25-12.05 | Marina Pantcheva (CASTL,University of Tromsø)                                                                                              | Why Do Persian Class 2 Prepositions Appear to Be Nouns                                                                            |
| 12.05-12.45 | Mihaela Tanase Dogaru (University of Bucharest)                                                                                            | Pseudo-Partitives and (Silent) Classifiers in Romanian                                                                            |
| 12.45-14.00 | Lunch                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                          |
| 14.00-14.40 | Te-hsin Liu (University Paris 8)                                                                                                           | A Fresh Look at the Paradoxal Nature of Chinese Contour Tones                                                                     |
| 14.40-15.20 | Gustavo Beritognolo (McGill University)                                                                                                    | Hiatus in Argentinian Spanish                                                                                                     |
| 15.20-15.35 | Coffee break                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                          |
| 15.35-16.15 | Stéphanie Weiser (University Paris X - Nanterre, MoDyCo)                                                                                   | The Negation of Action Sentences - Are There Negative Events?                                                                     |
| 16.15-16.55 | Gerhard Schaden (University Paris 8, CNRS UMR 7023)                                                                                        | A Formal Definition of Temporal Default Relations                                                                                 |
| 16.55-17.35 | Aritz Irurtzun (EHU-U. Basque Country, University of Bordeaux 3 & IKER-CNRS) & Maia Duguine (EHU-U. Basque Country & University of Nantes) | On the Independence of Focus and GIVENness                                                                                        |

Friday 12 January 2007: Catholic University of Brussels, room A/O/1

|             |                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 9.00-10.00  | Kyle Johnson (University of Massachusetts Amherst)                                                                         | Copies                                                                                                                       |
| 10.00-10.15 | Coffee break                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                     |
| 10.15-10.55 | Pavel Caha & Björn Lundquist (CASTL, University of Tromsø)                                                                 | Verbal Passives in Attributive Position. Contradictio in Adiecto?                                                            |
| 10.55-11.35 | Eva Dobler (McGill University)                                                                                             | Again and the Structure of Result States                                                                                     |
| 11.35-12.15 | Antonia Rothmayr (University of Vienna)                                                                                    | It Takes Two, Baby! CAUSE and the Prerequisites for Eventivity                                                               |
| 12.15-13.30 | Lunch                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                     |
| 13.30-14.10 | Márton Sóskuthy (Eötvös Loránd Tudományegyetem (ELTE) Budapest)                                                            | Voicing and the Skeleton                                                                                                     |
| 14.10-14.50 | Alexandre Vaxman (Laboratoire Parole et Langage, Institut de Phonetique, Universite de Provence , Aix-en-Provence, France) | A Glance at the Coda-Mirror                                                                                                  |
| 14.50-15.05 | Coffee break                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                     |
| 15.05-15.45 | Bert Le Bruyn (Utrecht University Uil-OTS)                                                                                 | Covert i-type-shifts in Dutch?                                                                                               |
| 15.45-16.25 | Annemie Verbist (Leiden University LUCL)                                                                                   | The Role of Perceptual Salience in the Acquisition of Principle B: Evidence from Cochlear Implanted Children                 |
| 16.25-17.05 | Cécile Monjauze (Université François Rabelais UFR Lettres et Langues, Laboratoire Langage et Handicap Tours)               | Linguistic Long-term Effects of Benign Rolandic Epilepsy: Analysis of Syntactic Complexity in Spontaneous Language           |
| 17.05-17.20 | Coffee break                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                     |
| 17.20-18.20 | Jean Lowenstamm (Université de Paris)                                                                                      | Competition for insertion, Merger of √ with category defining heads, and Related issues (Umlaut raises its ugly Head, again) |

Saturday 13 January, 2007: Catholic University of Brussels, room A/O/1

|             |                                                             |                                                                                            |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 9.00-10.00  | Joachim Sabel (Université Catholique de Louvain)            | A C-I Interface Constraint on Remnant Movement                      |
| 10.00-10.15 | Coffee break                                                |                                                                                            |
| 10.15-10.55 | Islam Youssef (CASTL, University of Tromsø)                 | Assimilation of Vocalic Features: Emphasis Spread in Cairene Arabic |
| 10.55-11.35 | Shakuntala Mahanta (Utrecht University Uil-OTS)             | Local vs. Non-local Consonantal Intervention in Vowel Harmony       |
| 11.35-12.15 | Radek Šimík (University of Groningen)                       | Definiteness Effects in Relative Clauses                            |
| 12.15-13.30 | Lunch                                                       |                                                                                            |
| 13.30-14.10 | Maia Duguine (EHU-U. Basque Country & University of Nantes) | Deriving Silent Arguments                                           |
| 14.10-14.50 | Seungwan Ha (Boston University)                             | On Ellipsis Features and Right Node Raising                         |
| 14.50-15.05 | Coffee break                                                |                                                                                            |
| 15.05-15.45 | Carlos de Cuba & Tomoko Kawamura (Stony Brook University)   | Intensionality and Extraction as Reflexes of Syntactic Structure    |
| 15.45-16.25 | Ourania Sinopoulou (University of Athens)                   | Multiple Questions and Apparent wh-in situ: Evidence from Greek     |
| 16.25-17.05 | Robert Truswell (UniversityCollege London)                  | Locality of Movement and the Individuation of Events                |
| 17.05-17.20 | Closing remarks                                             |                                                                                            |

Alternates

Cem Keskin (Utrecht University Uil-OTS): The Romans' Destruction the City.

Lan Kim (Simon Fraser University): On the Ditransitive Construction in Korean